The Lion's Tale

November 17, 2017

Congratulations, National Honor Society Members!

The National Honor Society recognizes excellence in scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Last Monday, students and faculty gathered in the auditorium as The Phelps School's NHS Chapter inducted four new members.

Schools across the country conduct similar ceremonies each year for students selected by faculty committee. The ceremony begins with the lighting of the NHS candle representing knowledge and wisdom. Current NHS members read passages about each area of excellence, then light a corresponding candle. When all candles are lit, new members come forward to sign the Chapter Registry and receive their tokens of membership.

Congratulations to inductees Justyn De La Rosa, Jonathan Durham, Weldon Eaddy, and Lewis Liu. They join an outstanding group of NHS members: Harrison Buckley, Will Einstein, Mike Ji, Liam Kiser, Khasim Mumin, Eric Nguyen, Bryant Robinson, and Manasseh Small.
